

Climbing Out of Napa's Shadow

Winemaker Jeffrey Miller offers a perspective on the Suisun Valley AVA

About the artist: San Francisco based artist Ann Rea created "End of Harvest" as part of a series to celebrate the Suisun Valley's 20th anniversary as an AVA. Rea is known for reviving the tradition of the French Impressionists, with a contemporary point of view. Winemakers take her on a tour of their vineyards; she then plants her easel and paints in oil colors inspired by seasonal light.

The collectible status of her work is quickly increasing. Ann's paintings, and her inspiring personal story, continue to receive national media attention. American art icon Wayne Thiebaud has commended her talent, and she has a growing list of collectors across the U.S., Canada and Europe. Her book, Colors of Terroir: Artist Ann Rea's Tour of Sonoma, will soon be available on www.annrea.com.

Climbing Out of Napa's Shadow

Winemaker Jeffrey Miller
offers a perspective on the
Suisun Valley AVA

About the artist: San Francisco based artist Ann Rea created "End of Harvest" as part of a series to celebrate the Suisun Valley's 20th anniversary as an AVA. Rea is known for reviving the tradition of the French Impressionists, with a contemporary point of view. Winemakers take her on a tour of their vineyards; she then plants her easel and paints in oil colors inspired by seasonal light.

The collectible status of her work is quickly increasing. Ann's paintings, and her inspiring personal story, continue to receive national media attention. American art icon Wayne Thiebaud has commended her talent, and she has a growing list of collectors across the U.S., Canada and Europe. Her book, Colors of Terroir: Artist Ann Rea's Tour of Sonoma, will soon be available on www.annrea.com.